RED DIRT
GROWING UP OKIE

By Roxanne Dunbar-Ortiz
Foreword by Mike Davis

A bittersweet memoir of growing up poor and white in America's rural heartland

A classic in contemporary Oklahoma literature, Roxanne Dunbar-Ortiz's Red Dirt unearths the joys and ordeals of growing up poor during the 1940s and 1950s. In this exquisite rendering of her childhood in rural Oklahoma, from the Dust Bowl days to the end of the Eisenhower era, the author bears witness to a family and community that still cling to the dream of America as a republic of landowners.

"Red Dirt simply blew my socks off. This tough-minded, wonderfully evocative autobiography from the other end of Route 66 is nothing less than the secret history of poor white people in America."—Mike Davis, from the Foreword

Roxanne Dunbar-Ortiz is Professor of Ethnic Studies and Women's Studies at California State University, East Bay. She is the author of Blood on the Border: A Memoir of the Contra War, Roots of Resistance: Land Tenure in New Mexico, 1680—1980, and Outlaw Woman: A Memoir of the War Years, 1960-1975. Mike Davis is Professor of History at the University of California, Irvine. His most recent book is Planet of Slums.
